Notes from the Curate

By the time you read this the Christian Church will be journeying through Lent. Lent is a time of reflection and preparation. In the Western Church, we associate this with prayer and fasting, remembering how Jesus went into the wilderness and fasted for 40 days and nights. Towards the end of this time of trial, Matthew tells us that Jesus was attended to by angels (Matt 4:11).

Traditionally the role of angels in the Bible has been associated with that of messengers from God. The word “angel” in the Greek and Hebrew is translated as messenger. The line in Matthew however suggests they have another role, to come to the aid of those in need.

I have a friend who likes to go walking, he thinks 2 miles is just a warmup. A good few years ago he took his wife and daughter to Hergest Croft Gardens and then set off on a walk over the ridge. Halfway through the walk, the weather changed and the clouds descended. After 2 hours his wife started to become concerned and could do nothing more than pray that he would return safely. By this time my friend had become completely disorientated and had no idea how to get back. To his surprise a man approached through the cloud and said he was passing Hergest Croft, inviting my friend to walk with him. My friend was reunited with his wife and daughter, then went to thank the man but he had disappeared. His wife is convinced the man was an angel.

We do ourselves a disservice by thinking that angels are heavenly beings with wings, halos and dressed in white. Angels are mentioned in just over half the books of the Bible and there is only one reference which suggests they might have wings and this is dubious (Daniel 9:21). Many of the stories leave doubt about what angels look like, sometimes they appear in human form and at other times its left to our imagination. Angels are often associated with white; this is symbolic language. When the Bible was written there was no Vanish (other stain removers available), it would have been extremely difficult to keep garments white. To wear white, you had to be extremely rich or very significant. God is depicted in white robes because he is ultimately significant, so angels being clothed in white is effectively them wearing Gods uniform.

Abba and Robbie Williams wrote pop songs about angels. The lyrics of both songs suggest that they believe in angels and that angels come to our aid when we are in need. This is something supported by the Biblical text, that God’s angels keep watch over his children (those who believe) and do indeed come to our aid (Matt 18:10).

I hope that by the time you read this we shall be enjoying the daffodils in bloom, and other welcome signs of spring. Maybe the January storms will be but a memory. Certainly the sun is shining as I write this.

I expect many of you will have seen the scaffolding in church (again) in January. An area of plaster fell from the ceiling just before Christmas, fortunately overnight, and a smaller area over the font was noticed to be loose. Apparently, many churches in the diocese have also had problems with plaster falling from walls and ceilings, possibly due to the very hot dry summer followed by a wet autumn and winter. However, the ceiling is now being repaired, (the end of January), so that the scaffolding can be removed and the church again open for everyone, every day.

Community Shop

Thank you very much to everyone who helped with this, either donating items for sale, helping to set up, selling or clearing in the shop, or coming to buy. £1,070 was raised for church funds.

Beetle Drives

After beginning again on 3 February, beetle drives will in future be held on the SECOND Tuesday of the month, in the Parish Hall as usual. So the next one will be on Tuesday March 10, at 7pm. Do come along for an evening of fun, with refreshments, prizes and a raffle. £5 including raffle tickets.

Lent Groups

These are being held on Wednesdays during Lent, 7-8pm in the Parish Hall. Depending on when your Parish News arrives, I am sorry that you may have missed the first one on February 25th, but do come along to the others – we will be looking at a different aspect of prayer each week. The last one will be on March 25th.

Wild church

This is beginning on March 8th, 2.30 – 4pm. Come and explore the great outdoors. More details will be elsewhere in this magazine.

As you will see, St. Mary's is looking for a new treasurer. We have a bookkeeper, who is a great help with this. Do let us know if you are interested – 07846 430111. Thank you.

We hope you will be able to join us at some of our activities, and for our Holy Week and Easter services in church – details elsewhere in the magazine.

We both wish you all a very happy Easter,

With best wishes,

Ann Edwards and Margaret Cooke
Churchwardens

Would you like to help out and earn some money?

Nick will be resigning the post of treasurer after eight years. We can offer an hourly rate of pay for this work. If you feel you can help, please contact Nick (01544 230805 or st.marys.kington.treasurer@gmail.com)

The Dove Community Hub

St Mary's Kingston is a thriving church community which endeavours to live out the imperatives of the Gospel in our daily lives. The church building is in very good shape, with an excellent sound system, new central heating and a full programme of services and events. However, its historic situation at the top of a hill half a mile from the city centre, means that although excellently placed for worship, it is not best placed for some of the community-focused activities we would like to pursue.

St Mary's has been offered the use of the ground floor of the former 'Wine Vaults' pub for a minimal rent.

Our vision is for a place in the heart of Kingston where people can meet during the day and evening for clubs and activities, and give and receive tuition, advice and support according to their needs and abilities.

Easily accessed by all in the community it would offer an exchange point of great variety. In addition to this, we hope that the Hub would hold resource and information material from other organisations such as tourist information, NGOS, clubs etc. as well as being a 'safe space' for CAP meetings or other external agency meetings.

The Dove would not be in competition with the Oxford Arms as it is much smaller in size, nor would it conflict with local coffee shops or cafes, as it would only serve tea/coffee and cake as a hospitable refreshment during its activities.

We are still in the early stages of this project – the room is structurally sound but needs refurbishment (subject to planning consent) and we plan to improve the aspect of the courtyard in order to make it a welcoming place for the people of Kingston to meet.

Further details will be made public as we know them, but please get in touch if you have any questions or queries. Better still, let us know if you would like to get involved with the project!

Professor Jo Raven's Talk – “Health, Humanity & Hope”:

Jo Raven is a professor in healthcare systems working at the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine. She works as a researcher in analysing problem situations and effecting solutions.

Jo described her childhood, the youngest of four, growing up in Staunton-on-Arrow. Her Aunt Flo had a pivotal influence in developing her spirit of adventure and desire to follow her career as a nurse/midwife, particularly overseas in countries where need was greatest.

Commencing her 40-year career, Jo trained as a nurse at Guys Hospital London, then at a South East London Hospital (in the heart of gun/knife/drug culture). Jo decided overseas work was her calling, so extensively travelled to Asia, Australia, South Africa, which gave her first-hand experience of different cultures and inequity of healthcare systems.

Returning to the UK Jo decided to train as a midwife. After working for several years in the UK, including Hereford Hospital, she went to the Maldives, through Voluntary Services Overseas, for a 2-year placement as a Midwife Trainer. Women faced many challenges in acquiring maternal health care, including travelling from their home island to a health centre by small boat, which was often hazardous, costly, and took time. Strengthening health-worker skills to provide high quality and sensitive care was Jo's priority. After 4 years, Jo had trained many health-workers, developed teaching curricula/materials and was ready to hand over to local trainers.

Jo returned to the UK, undertaking a Masters Degree at the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine, aiming to return to work on maternal health programmes in Africa/Asia. But bitten by the research “bug” she started working as a research assistant, doing a PhD, and moving on to lead research projects.

Jo, with her team of 8 in Liverpool + numerous teams worldwide, currently research healthcare systems in fragile and conflict affected areas, affecting over 2 billion people, often travelling to these areas. A 6-year research programme – Rebuild for Resilience, is concluding in April 2026. Current projects in Lebanon, DR Congo and Yemen are focused on improving the planning and coordinating of health care services. Supporting health-workers to provide services in settings where they experience physical attacks, poor working conditions, staff shortages, essential supply shortages, high workloads and unreliable salaries, leading to economic hardship and deteriorating mental health.

Jo travelled to the eastern region of Ghana to analyse the problems of challenging inaccessible locations and retention of trained health staff. Health managers, health-workers and community leaders designed and implemented interventions to support health-workers stay in these challenging areas and provide health care services for marginalised communities.

Jo ended with the words “Hope for a better future”. The Village Hall was full and everyone thoroughly enjoyed the thought-provoking informative talk, given in Jo’s modest and humorous way. Wine and canapes followed.

If you would like to support health-workers in Yemen, who Jo works with, please see this crowdfunding page: <https://www.crowdfunder.co.uk/p/habibti-2024>

Choral Evensong at Huntington

This takes place on the fourth Sunday evening at Huntington church. There is a practice at 5pm followed by a cup of tea, and then the service starts at 6pm, lasting about 45 minutes. We usually have 12 or more people there, and it is a very uplifting service. The next evensong is on Sunday 22 March and we would love to see you.

Lent Lunch

We will be holding a lent lunch in the village hall on Saturday 21st March between 12md and 2pm. This is a great opportunity to meet together, share a simple meal and reflect on everything. All monies raised will go towards the excellent work of St Michael's Hospice. Any offers of help or food please contact Win on 267342.

Organ Restoration

Our Church Organ is in need of an overhaul. This is going to be an ongoing fund-raising effort but please do start thinking of how we can raise any funds. One idea is that you could become an “Organ Donor”. Any offers of help or fundraising ideas please do get in touch with any of the PCC members. We will be looking to raise in excess of £20,000

PCC Meeting

A reminder that there will be a short PCC meeting at 10.45am on Sunday 15th March following the service with the full AGM to which everyone is warmly invited to attend which will be on Sunday 19th April at 11.45am in the church. This is everyone's opportunity to have your say on how your church is being run.

Many thanks

Dick

Repair works to St Thomas a Becket, Huntington

Visitors to our church could not have failed to notice that we have had two lots of scaffolding recently, one outside and one inside. Our church is over 800 years old and buildings do deteriorate over time and repairs need to be carried out. The Church is also grade II* which means that even what seems to be simple works need to get permission and be planned which takes time.

The work on the outside on the East gable has been to repair the barge boards which with age have become home to a number of bee colonies and latterly some very fat squirrels who have done considerable damage. The barge boards had started to come away, but the work could only be done alongside the bees when temperatures had dropped below 10°C. Then the bees form a tight “winter cluster” around the queen to keep her warm and they survive by eating the honey stores they collected during summer which means that we were not disturbing them and they were not cross with us. With permission of the Diocese Architect the barge boards have been replaced with new oak which should ensure that they will be good for another few hundred years. There are plenty of entry/exit points for the bees and we look forward to hearing them again in the spring.

On the inside of the church to the Nave west end one of the plaster panels fell off. The architect believed that it might be due to recent extremes of wet and hot and dry weather. We erected a scaffolding tower and inspected the rest of the panels and Deborah

(the architect) decided that more looked like they might fail and so we have safely removed them. When the temperature rises consistently above 5 degrees (when lime plaster will cure) we will be able to replace the plaster like for like with hair mixed plaster and will be asking Ty Mawr to match the previous colour.

Although the rear 4 rows of pews are for the present off limits there is still plenty of space for anyone to join with us for our 2nd Sunday Holy Communion at 8:30am and our very successful Sung Evensong on the 4th Sunday of every month. 5pm for practice, 5:30 for delicious tea and cake and the service at 6pm - come and give it a go.

Reader Writes

Dare to be a Daniel' we liked to say. He did have a pretty extraordinary career. In 597BC King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon came and conquered Jerusalem, then following a rebellion he came back to destroy the city and took a large part of the population into exile. Daniel, a young man of faith, was among those selected by the Babylonian court to be trained for royal service. And remember that Daniel and his Jewish companions would have found themselves among all sorts of astrologers and magicians, essentially in spiritual conflict with our sovereign God, creator of all the earth.

Soon enough Daniel found himself facing opposition and eventually plots to take him down. Famously, under the rule of Darius the Mede, Daniel was thrown into a den of lions for refusing to give up his faith or his custom of praying by the open window. God placed Daniel and other Jews in prominent positions in the Babylonian court and administration. The Jewish people had been conquered and sent into exile, but they remained God's people under the sovereign power and intention of God. It was a long journey, but it eventually brought God's plan of rescue for mankind back to Jerusalem and the cross of Christ.

This raises the question of how people of faith should manage their lives in the face of opposition. St Mary's is supporting Steffan Jones of Barnabus Trust, which supports Christians of the many nations where they are persecuted. Daniel was saved from the lions; God had much more for him to do. Jesus was persecuted but eventually arrested, charged and crucified as the final complete sacrifice for all mankind. But in both cases, Daniel and Jesus, they were in the thick of the corrupt society around them. We need wisdom and guidance, and overall, we need God's Holy Spirit, to confront the many evils in our society and the world around. Never say, oh that's politics, nothing to do with us; if it's an issue of justice, then it is to do with us, because we are called to love and help our neighbour.

Rutger Bregman, the 2025 Reith lecturer, was inspiring. His best-known book, Utopia for Realists, argues unashamedly for fairer, more generous ways of running society. We can construct a society with visionary ideas that are wholly implementable. Many of the milestones of civilisation were once considered utopian fantasy. How on earth did the Abolitionists put an end to slavery, that trade in bodies that made so many of our forebears and our cities very rich? It was the dedication, inspiration, prayer and courage of small groups of people like us, but who never gave up.

In his lectures Bregman argued for moral ambition with patient endurance. The abolitionists and the Suffragettes didn't live to see their precious goals succeed. But praise God, thanks to their faith and their persistence, they triumphed in the end. It's easy to feel powerless, especially when the geo-political order, which has provided our generation with peace and safety, is dramatically torn apart before the world's eyes. Can goodness be made fashionable again? Can a "conspiracy of decency" turn our world of selfishness upside down? Yes, I am encouraged! But democracy, politics, even global politics, all require our effort and participation. Let's stand up for this moral revolution.

Robert MacCurrach

God by Numbers

3 Wise men there were, three, who turned up at the tavern where Christ was born, the Messiah, Immanuel (God with us.). But it's not the wise men that matter, but the three gifts they brought. Sent by God, these magi from far far away, brought with them this child's destiny. Gold for a king, King Jesus, through whom God created the universe. Then Frankincense for a priest and the priesthood now redundant; Jesus, the Lamb of God, became God's final and complete sacrifice for all mankind. And thirdly, Myrrh for a death; the death on a cross, and burial, and on the third day resurrection.

Three and "tri-unity" crop up early in God's story. Three mysterious visitors to Abram promised him a son. When asked for a sign from God Jesus responded, as Jonah was three days and three nights in the belly of a fish, so the Son of Man will be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth. John records Jesus saying, "Destroy this temple, and in 3 days I will raise it up". Burial was followed by glorious resurrection.

So finally, profoundly and importantly, God is three in one, a Trinity of persons in one person. He is also one God who operates in all three persons of the Trinity. As days lengthen in the Spring, I like to see the diversity of new life reflect the genius of God the Creator in the Trinity. No dualism but boundless variety. Over this complexity, we have been made God's stewards. And at home, in community and in church, the fellowship of the Trinity is the basis of the fellowship within the human family. Two can be divided, but a cord of three strands is not easily broken. (Ecc 4:12); and St Paul wrote to the church in Corinth: "So now faith, hope and love abide, these three; but the greatest of these is love."

Robert MacCurrach and David Stearns
(Any bright ideas, let us know!)

The Joys of Walking

As I live in the Kington area and regularly visit a church service I am frequently identified as "the walker". It is a label I gratefully accept because throughout my life I have loved the stimulation – both mental and physical – of putting one foot in front of another. Most walks to a service are between one and two hours; and naturally, one is restored by being (in the full meaning of the word) on a journey and the rest in-between.

In the fifties when I was born, walking to work, the shops or school was the norm. I walked to school across the fields and railway lines, taking about 45 minutes; for my first job as a care assistant in Bristol I discovered "speed walking".

But the joy of walking is really to do with the open spaces and Nature.

In London I enjoyed walking along the Camden Canal or the River Thames westwards to Kew and Thames Ditton.

These days I regularly walk to services in Colva, Huntington, Kington and Old Radnor – that is when I don't have a service in Gladestry. One of my favourites is over the Ridge to Hergest Croft Gardens, stopping at Park Wood and the pool – a stimulating place of refreshment. I recall last spring a wondrous sight of not one or two, but some seven rainbows!! If you can find a special place it will touch you and one won't forget. Woods such as Fishpools near the Radnor Forest with the sun shadows coming through the branches or the sound of running water perhaps by the River Wye can be memorable and edifying.

What is grace?
The dictionary is not much help;
there are so many answers. So, what can I suggest?

I think I may have written before about the introduction with which I begin my Morning Prayer, so forgive me if I repeat myself. With my pre-breakfast cuppa I sit in my study next to the window and light a seasonally coloured candle placed in a holder on the sill (purple during Lent). Because the window is double glazed the flame is twice reflected out into the dawn, making three flames in all, for me a wonderful illustration of the Holy Trinity, the Three in One and One in Three, illuminating The Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Love of God and the Fellowship of the Holy Spirit, that so often trips off the tongue unthinkingly.

Musing, or should I say, reflecting, on this miracle, I begin to understand what I mean by the all-embracing Love of God and by the ever present Fellowship of the Holy Spirit; but I think that Grace is one of those words where, as Humpty Dumpty said in Alice, “it means just what I choose it to mean, neither more nor less.”

Now, as I light the candle, I recite a little sentence which I’ve gleaned from somewhere. It begins like this: “I will light a light in the Name of the Maker, who lit the world and breathed the breath of life for me; I will light a light in the Name of the Son who saved the world and stretched out his hand for me; I will light a light in the Name of the Spirit, who encircles the world and blesses my soul with longing.”

And that’s good enough for me. The Grace of the Lord is his stretching out his hand for me. And I marvel when I think what a lot of gracious people there are in Kington, following the example of Jesus Christ whether they realise it or not, in stretching out a hand or volunteering to help someone else!

One more thing to get off my chest: After that introduction I say Morning Prayer, basically from the B.C.P. “O Lord, open thou our lips: and our mouth shall show forth thy praise.” B.C.P., because it seems to me that modern versions, failing to include the stress of the thou, have missed the point. Left to ourselves, as I said above, these familiar phrases trip off the tongue so thoughtlessly. Just as a lecture (or maybe one of my sermons) has been described as a process whereby what’s written on the lecturer’s pad is transferred to the student’s notebook without going through the head of either of them!

So may the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be a hand stretched out for you today and whenever. Amen.

The Bible Course

Eleven people recently completed The Bible Course, produced by Bible Society. In eight sessions we covered the whole bible, discovering how the different parts fit together like jigsaw pieces in a big picture. We learnt about God's plan for saving the world, starting with Abraham and culminating in Jesus. We were excited to feel part of the continuing story, and inspired by the hope that lies ahead of us. The sessions included testimonies of people whose lives have been changed by encountering God, and how the bible has become an essential part of their lives.

I hope we may run the course again next year, but in the meantime, you can access it online free of charge at biblesociety.org.uk

PAUL ROBERTS

This is what some of our group have said:

The Bible Course provided a "map" of God's daring rescue plan for mankind. This helps us place scripture in the deepest and the widest context so that we continue building on sound foundations.

Attending the course has enabled me to have a greater understanding of the scriptures. Reading or listening to the daily bible plan via resources online and through the digital hub was a different experience and easy to follow.

I found it so helpful to see how the different books fitted together and to follow the overarching theme of the promised Christ. Great stuff.

The Cart Shed

Can you give some of your time to help us?

We need more volunteers to drive our minibuses, cook the lunches for our participants in our woodland kitchens, or help us with site maintenance.

Could this be YOU?

The Cart Shed Charity supports children, young people and adults who are struggling with their mental health. We are pretty unique, because we do this in our Norton Canon woodland using the beauty and peace of the environment together with the opportunity to learn woodland skills while getting professional support. Our volunteers are a crucial part of the Cart Shed family, enjoying the chance to help others while getting training, enjoying our woodland and being part of something really rather special.

Giving and Growing

Did you know that the Bible has 500 verses on prayer, fewer than 500 verses on faith, but more than 2,000 verses on money and possessions. Jesus spoke more about money and possessions and how we use them than he did about prayer. So during these last few weeks in church we have been thinking about how we use our money as an expression of discipleship and how we can help to close the significant gap in the church finances.

All that we give is in response to God's overflowing generosity. He gives us life and he gave us his Son so that we might have new life and become children of God. In the Old Testament God gave instructions to his people about how they should express their thankfulness through the gifts they gave at different festivals. Jesus assumed that God's people would give generously, and St Paul had much to say about giving for the needs of the church. He famously said that 'God loves a cheerful giver'.

We have called our mini-campaign in church 'Giving and Growing' because as we give generously the church can grow – we can expand our youth and children activities, we can cover the costs of our exciting new project The Dove, we can pay a reasonable amount to the diocese for our Vicar's employment costs. And we ourselves grow in faith as we trust God for all we need and can give.

On March 1st we welcomed Ivor Williams as a guest preacher. He has written a book called 'Open Hands, Open Heart', which follows two interwoven stories.

One is the story of God's abundant, generous grace, from Genesis to Revelation, and how God teaches his people to express their love through giving. The other is Ivor's story of his family and church, as step by step they discover God's amazing generosity, and learn to let go and give to others, as God gives to us. A number of us have read this book and have found it inspiring. We have some copies in church which can be borrowed or bought.

If you missed our services recently you can catch up by watching them on the YouTube livestream link from the church website.

There are also some leaflets in church with notes from the talks. On Sunday 8th March we will be giving our pledges as a response to the campaign.

We ended last year with a deficit of £17,000 in our running costs. This is unsustainable and would mean that without taking action the church would be bankrupt in a few years. The good news however is that the money is there – it's just that we need to give it in a spirit of generosity, thankfulness and obedience. PAUL ROBERTS

Not a Proper Gardener (Part 61)

Well, at length, early in January, a day arrived when we thought we might plant out my 42 Aguadulce broad bean plants. The forecaster said there would be no frost and that it would turn warmer during the night, so we decided to risk it. Even so, it would be a bit of a shock for them after being on a windowsill indoors. So, in the afternoon we carefully planted them, spaced out in three rows of 14, and protected them with netting and a bit of fleece. At dawn we looked out, and it was frosty! But the claim on the packet that they were very hardy proved correct, and they recovered, and now, more than week later, they look happy and well.

Perhaps describing them as happy makes you smile; but why should we not attribute some degree of feeling to plants – and trees? Why else should we have performed that wassailing on 17th January, Old Twelfth Night?

We managed to find an hour without rain. I produced a bottle of my Pitmaston Pineapple Cider, 2024 vintage, for Emma to mull, and she found some potash to put ready for Giles to sprinkle. We then set off to visit the eighteen fruit trees in our jungle, in six convenient groups, following Emma's prepared leaflet. To each tree Giles sprinkled a little potash, Emma poured a little mulled cider, and I uttered a brief prayer of thanks for last year's bountiful produce; and we recited a New Year's blessing for health and happiness. Then we sang one of the six verses of the Wassail song before moving on to the next group. The eighteen were not all apple or pear, for we included a productive fig tree, a quince, mulberry, medlar, damson, plum, etc.

all of which had done well.

I mention the variety of apple used in the cider because it was one of a couple of trees I planted in autumn 1999, just after we had moved into this house. Herefordshire Council were offering Apple Tree Kits for your Garden. There were six heritage varieties on offer, each with a post, strimmer guard and soft tie. My two cost me only £15 and the ones I chose were the Pitmaston Pineapple and Adam's Pearmain. Both have done excellently every year.

Emma doesn't drive, nor does Giles! and I decided it was time to give up. Keep death off the road! I took the car in for a service at the garage and they bought it! Emma has therefore ordered a garden bin from the council, and we will have to do our best to fill it every fortnight to make it worthwhile.

Now the bedroom windowsills are empty I'm going to sow some more seeds to produce some early hardy plants for us: sweet peas, probably, and we will see if the field beans Emma gathered from the garden last year will germinate.

Happy gardening, Denis.

Perhaps describing them as happy makes you smile; but why should we not attribute some degree of feeling to plants – and trees?

News From the Museum

Football in Kington

Congratulations to Kington Town Football Club on achieving their 150-year anniversary. Over the years Kington Town has played in the Mid Wales league as well as the different Divisions in the Hereford football scene, winning and becoming champions on many occasions as with luck they hope to win this season. We have some photographs in the Museum one taken in 1950's with Robbie Robinson player who was also involved in cricket.

Football has always been a popular sport in the Kington area as the surrounding villages all had a team, also St. Mary's church.

To encourage the schools to play football in the young schoolboys, a cup was presented for boys up to school leaving age, in the memory of Albert Henry Hamer. Who was he? Bert as he was known, was born in 1874 always a sporty lad playing games whenever he could. Leaving Lady Hawkins school, working for his father in Kington to become a surveyor. Bert was offered a professional place at Aston Villa but refused. He was playing for Hereford Thistle at the time.

Joining the Kings Shropshire Light, went to war in South Africa, awarded the South African Medal with clasp before his discharge when the war ended.

On his marriage he took his young wife to South Africa, where a baby son David was born in 1912.

When the WW1 broke out, at the age of forty Bert decided to join the army again, although well over the call-up age and with a gammy leg managed to enlist.

Bert was killed in action near Ypres in 1915, Kington's first casualty. His sister Mrs Pauline Mitchell presented "The Mitchell Hamer Competition Cup" in memory of her brother Bertie Hamer, for non-Grammar School boys up to the age of fourteen. There were eleven players in each team.

The first winners were Kington in 1921, captained by Alec Swancott, and again the next year. They played against Eardisley, Almeley, Lyonshall, Old Radnor and New Radnor. The headmaster decided to withdraw his team for a few years. The competition ran for 80 years with breaks for WW11 and Foot and Mouth.

In early 1960's during the re- organisation of secondary schools the cup was retained for 6 aside teams from Primary schools, when a runners-up trophy was introduced. By now the competing schools stretched from Leintwardine, Stretton Sugwas and Clifford to Stoke Prior. There were two groups, the winners of each played other in the final. Later it was decided to have a one-day tournament. There was a netball contest setup for the girls at this point.

International Referee Mr Jim Finney took charge for one final. Quite an honour for the boys, although the usual football rules applied, another set was followed in the event of a draw.

but it has given the youngsters of the area some exercise, fun and hopefully helped in their development in growing up.

The Museum reopens on Saturday
28th March 2026

Wendy Jones

From Lady Hawkins School

Miss Moss writes: "For the Year 11 GCSE English Language mock examination, students were set this task: 'Holidays don't need to be faraway and expensive. They just need to give people a break from everyday life and the chance to relax.'

Write an article for a magazine in which you argue your point of view on this statement. Here is an extract from Goldie's article:

Staycations: Sad or Saving?

Thinking about booking a holiday abroad this year? Maybe America, Greece, Spain, Japan? Thinking of spending a fortune on a stressful, sweaty week? Maybe read this and think again as booking on a budget can feel just as good as a holiday itself! If your priorities are relaxation, quality family time and a break from the trials and tribulations of everyday life, then this is for you.

What counts as a holiday?

A holiday is a time to forget about your daily stresses. A time to leave behind your anxiety. Forget about work. Forget about those dreaded deadlines. It's a time to spend quality time with loved ones. A time to absorb the scenery and completely unwind because- let's face it- life is busy! Expensive holidays abroad aren't the only option, and you can tick all of the holiday boxes at destinations much closer to home. If hiking floats your boat, you could hike the Welsh and Scottish ranges! Or even swim in the Cornish turquoise-blue waters and explore fossils and caves in Lyme-Regis! Our country is full of hidden treasures waiting to be seized and explored. Will you ...?

Saving money, stress and the world!

There are endless advantages to not travelling far and wide for holidays. Firstly, there is the obvious: not breaking the bank, especially for families suffering from rising inflation and the infamous cost of living crisis. Sometimes, zooming off in a plane isn't realistic. But, parents still want to make memories and give their children opportunities to explore. Studies show that 70% of parents feel the financial burden and financial guilt about not being able to travel with their family. It must change! We all need to see the wonders this country presents us with, such as its rolling hills, bursting forests and wild meadows. It is ready and waiting to be explored for far less money and it won't break the bank. Packing suitcases to travel thousands of miles is not an easy task. Neither is making sure everyone has and remembers their passport. Neither is dragging everyone onto a tiny plane or rocking boat for hours and hours on end. So, don't! Make your life easier! Start the holiday even earlier by relieving the travel stress. Simplify your travel by dumping toxic and polluting planes and travel by car or train to reach your dream destination. Our travel culture must change. For the sake of the planet and our pockets, let's turn to greener holidays! Practise what we preach! Save the earth and its magnificent environment we pay thousands to see.

Brilley Flicks in the Sticks and live performance

Thursday 5th March at 7.30:

Girls will be girls (15), £5

In a strict 1990s boarding school in the Himalayan foothills, model student Mira's first taste of love collides with her mother's buried desires, sparking a tender yet rebellious coming-of-age story.

Thursday 12th March at 7.30: Juliet & Romeo live performance, £12

With Lost Dog's blend of dance, theatre and comedy this Juliet & Romeo reveals the real story behind Shakespeare's famous lovers. It turns out they didn't die in a tragic misunderstanding; they grew up and lived happily ever after. Well, they lived at least. Now they're 40ish, at least one of them is in the grips of a mid-life crisis, they feel constantly mocked by their teenage selves and haunted by the pressures of being the poster couple for romantic love. They have decided to confront their current struggles by putting on a performance – about themselves. Their therapist told them it was a terrible idea.

Brilley and Michaelchurch Village Hall (HR3 6JG), doors open at 7pm. Don't forget to bring your own refreshments for flicks nights! Bar will be open for the Juliet & Romeo live performance.

As usual advance booking only - please book and pay for your tickets online at pay-brilley.co.uk

KINGTON TOWN COUNCIL UPDATE

Hello Everyone.

This has been a busy time for the Town Council, as many of the plans we have made in recent months are now coming into fruition.

You will be pleased to know, that following liaison with Hereford Council, work has been approved for a variety of work in our streets.

This includes:

- Installation of block paving to the pavements from the Market Hall to the far side of the Museum and the other side of the road in front of the Burton Hotel to the entrance to the car park in Crabtree Road
- Repair of the pavements on Church Street (Market Hall side) from the end of the block paving to the end of the narrow footpath past the Royal Oak
- Repair of the pavement from the Catholic Church on both sides, to the bridge on Bridge Street in tarmac.
- Installation of lighting on Bridge Street bridge.

Most of this work is likely to take place once the weather improves in the Spring. Two further projects are under consideration for later in the year:

There are plans for laying an area of coloured tarmac in the area around the Market Hall to create a 'town square' feel to that area. This will be useful for such events as the Wheelbarrow Race and Christmas Lights Switch On.

There is also a plan to install additional parking bays outside the Royal Oak in Church Street. This will be welcome news for residents and pub users and will also help as a traffic calming measure in that area.

The costs for all this work will be covered by a Herefordshire market towns grant of over £200,000.

At our last Full Council meeting we were delighted to welcome Rae Morgan as a co-opted councillor. Having lived and worked in Kington for most of his life, Rae has also worked in other countries as an engineer in the aerospace industry. He and his wife have a small-holding and are members of the Kington Chamber of Trade. They are also the organisers of the Kington Christmas Charity Tractor Run. We wish Rae well in his new role and thank him for joining us.

We still have vacancies for Councillors and would love to hear from you if you want to explore the idea of becoming a member of our Town Council. Do get in touch with one of us, or speak to Liz Kelso, our Clerk on 01544 239098.

It was reported at our last Council Meeting that British Telecom has given notice of its intention to disconnect and remove the telephone box in Church Street but will transfer ownership of their boxes to town and parish councils. After due consideration it was agreed that the box be transferred to the Town Council for the stated cost of £1. Consideration will now be given for potential use of the box/space, management and any ongoing maintenance that might be required. Your ideas and suggestions are welcome!

Have a good month!

*Cllr Philip J.G. Sell
Mayor of Kington*

Music in New Radnor

Student platform - The Arundo Quartet

We at MiNR are very proud of our student platforms: it is a treat to hear young musicians on the verge of their careers, with many students returning to us as professionals following their graduation. Tonight's ensemble, The Arundo Quartet, is a newly established bassoon ensemble formed of current students and recent graduates from the Royal Birmingham Conservatoire. Bringing together four distinctive musical voices, the quartet is dedicated to showcasing the remarkable versatility, warmth, and character of the bassoon in a chamber setting rarely heard on the concert stage.

As a unique line-up, Arundo presents a programme that combines works written specifically for bassoon quartet with imaginative arrangements of classical favourites. Their repertoire spans from the elegance of Mozart to the dramatic colours of Berlioz, alongside a growing collection of contemporary pieces and lighter, audience-friendly selections.

This blend allows the ensemble to craft concerts that are both artistically engaging and accessible to listeners of all backgrounds.

Committed to expressive performance and musical storytelling, the Arundo Quartet aims to highlight the bassoon's lyrical singing quality, its rich low register, and its playful agility. Whether performing intricate original compositions or reimagined orchestral and operatic classics, Arundo brings an inviting sense of curiosity and energy to the stage. Good news there will be a bar at this concert.

Love and serve one another

On Maundy Thursday we recall the final command that Jesus gave to his disciples before his death. After the Last Supper, He rose and washed his disciples' feet. This was astonishing for a 'teacher' to do, but He had a firm purpose in mind: "A new command I give you: Love one another. As I have loved you, so you must love one another." His disciples were to love through service, not domination, of one another.

In Latin, the opening phrase of this sentence is 'mandatum novum do vobis'. The word 'mundy' is thus a corruption of the Latin 'mandatum' (or command). The 'washing of the feet' ceremony was an important part of the medieval church's liturgy, symbolising the humility of the clergy, in obedience to the example of Christ.
