Dear Friends

On my white communion stole are embroidered several beautiful butterflies. The stole was made for me when I became ordained and I designed it myself. One of the reasons I included butterflies is that I came to ordained ministry through working with children and there is a children's song about butterflies that we used to sing. The second, and more important, reason is that butterflies are a wonderful and powerful symbol of the resurrection.

Caterpillars are not attractive things on the whole. They are long, with many legs and spend almost all of their time eating. When they have done this for a while, they become pupae and stay in their chrysalis, changing and developing. So far, so boring. But then a wonderful thing happens. One day the grey chrysalis will begin to move and shake and suddenly split open. From this case a beautiful butterfly will emerge. It will stand for some time in the sunlight, gently moving its wings, pumping fluids into them to extend them fully. Then it will soar gracefully away on the breeze, leaving nothing behind but a broken chrysalis to indicate its former bondage.

To Christians, the three stages of the butterfly's metamorphosis are symbolic of the three stages in the life cycle of Christ and the Christian. The caterpillar's non-stop eating reminds us of normal earthly life where people are often preoccupied with taking care of their physical needs. The chrysalis or cocoon resembles the tomb and the butterfly represents the resurrection into a new and glorious life free of material concerns and restrictions.

The chrysalis and butterfly suggest the empty graveclothes of the risen Lord. When Peter and John heard the news that Jesus' body was gone from the garden tomb, they ran all the way from their lodging. Peter entered the tomb and "he saw the strips of linen lying there, as well as the burial cloth that had been around Jesus' head. The cloth was folded up by itself, separate from the linen" (John 20:6-7, NIV).

The graveclothes once wrapped continuously around the body now lay collapsed, mute testimony that the corpse they had once shrouded had now emerged in life.

In the same way, the caterpillar and the butterfly can remind us of the difference between our old, sinful selves, earthbound and captive, and our new, forgiven selves, freed from sin by the power of God's love, able to live new lives through his grace.

A major theme in St. Paul's teachings is that "we shall all be changed" (1 Cor 15:51). The Christian hope is that what is sown in the grave as a weak mortal body will be raised an indestructible spiritual body not subject to temptation, sorrow, death, or pain (1 Cor 15:44-54). Through death the spirit will escape - not from its body but from the vulnerabilities and hardships of mortal flesh. The victory of eternal life over death represented by the butterfly makes it a favourite image on old tombstones.

At Easter we celebrate that fact that although we are all caterpillars at the moment, inside each one of us, thanks to the grace of God, and the sacrifice of Christ, is a beautiful butterfly. We recognise this future hope, and our own and others' potential.

The bondage of death is broken. Christ is risen! We can face tomorrow with the assurance that Jesus is alive to help us, to guide us, to give us hope for the future.

Sally

From the Dean of Hereford

As we reach the end of the first quarter of the 1351st year of the life of the Diocese, I find myself reflecting in a rather “Life of Brian-ish” kind of way on what the anniversary actually means. ‘What’ one might wonder, ‘has Christianity ever done for us?’

Apart from define the character and culture of each one of our villages and towns visually, spiritually and ethically; apart from instil timeless rhythms of life and worship that have fitted hand in glove with those of land, weather and season; apart from put this place surprisingly often at the epicentre of national history through those called to serve under God in church, state and commerce; apart from inspire us to creativity in art and music and poetry and to endeavour in caring for others and offering freedom, education and sometimes just bread to all in need.. what has Christianity ever done for the people of this place?

Christianity has had a tangible impact on countless lives and wellbeing in these parts and has been part of the warp and weft of life. Sometimes it has led to terrible things, but mostly it has been the making of us, and though there is alarming and rapid change and apparent decline at present, it will prevail. In the last 1350 years, a pageant of nobles and peasants, artisans and farmers, businesspeople, clergy and laity have lived out life’s joys, sorrows and unpredictabilities within these inherently Christian communities, which have sometimes flourished and sometimes not.

But all this stems from a single event and a single man. The man who was God came to show us what God is like and how much he loves us. He modelled love and peace and justice and wholeness such as no one had ever known, showed us that we are not alone in this difficult and wounded world and filled hearts with yearning for a promised Kingdom and with passion to see it fulfilled. His teaching captivated the needy and the pure in heart and made the powerful afraid and very dangerous. They nailed him to the cross in the most brutal of criminals’ deaths and his friends tenderly laid his corpse in a tomb.

On the third day, he rose again from the dead and changed our relationship with life and death, sin and righteousness forever. For 1350 years, Christians here have celebrated that day which is the heart of our faith and the hope of all creation. Those early saints who brought the faith here 1350 years ago brought us Jesus and Easter and the hope and desire for eternal life under our God on earth as it is in heaven.

1350 Easter celebrations later, we can still say ‘Allelulia’

St. Mary's Church, Kington

After a rather wet and cloudy winter, it seems that spring is on its way with the arrival of early lambs, and the daffodils. Unfortunately, some of the incessant rain in February made its way inside the church, around the chancel arch and on to the choir pews. This has now been repaired, and the church is once again dry inside....

Wild Church

This venture began very successfully with around 12 children attending, accompanied by families, carers, and others, in the vicarage garden on 8th March. Everyone enjoyed the outdoor activities and the bonfire. The next wild church will be held on Sunday April 12th, from 3 – 4.30pm. Do come along, everyone welcome, with or without children. The venue may be changed to Yeld wood – look out for posters in the town and at the church lychgate.

Holiday Club

This was held during the February half term, under the title 'Pancakes Galore', with about 30 pancakes cooked and eaten, and many other activities enjoyed. The next Holiday Club will be on Good Friday, 3rd April, from 9 – 11am, in church. See the posters elsewhere in this magazine.

Our dear churchwarden, Ann Edwards, celebrated her 90th birthday with us in church last month. After the service she was presented with flowers and we all enjoyed some cake with our coffee.

Beetle drives

These are now on the second Tuesday of the month, in the parish hall at 6pm, and much fun is had by all. Do come and join us. £5 including free raffle tickets, tea, coffee, and biscuits.

Holy Week

Various extra services and events will be happening in church during Holy Week, beginning with the Palm Sunday service, which this year falls on a 5th Sunday, so will be a benefice service held in Kinnerton church at 10am on 29th March. Other services for Holy Week are detailed elsewhere in this booklet.

We do hope you will be able to join us in church sometime during the Easter season. Our usual Easter Sunday service will be held in St. Mary's at 10am, on 5th April, when Easter eggs may well be in evidence....

With our very best wishes for Easter to you all,
Ann Edwards and Margaret Cooke, churchwardens.

An additional message from Ann.

As many of you I expect know, I am retiring as Churchwarden at Easter. My failing sight means that I cannot necessarily do all that I would wish, and I send very sincere thanks to all at St. Mary's for the help and encouragement you have given me over 25 happy years. I shall of course continue to worship alongside you and be willing to help in any way I can. My love and kind thoughts to you all, Ann.

St Mary's Annual Parochial Church Meeting

It is that time of year again when all parishioners of Kington choose the Churchwardens for St Mary's, have a chance to review the year and those on the electoral role to vote for the Church Council members and Deanery Synod members at the Annual Parochial Church meeting.

This will be held at 11.15am (following the Parish Communion) on Sunday April 12th) in St Mary's Church.

Nomination forms for Churchwardens, PCC members and Deanery Synod members are available in church or from Christine Robinson, PC Secretary on 07741463231

Coffee will be available after the service and before the meeting

Operation Dove

You have probably heard by now that we have bought the "Wine Vaults" in Kington High Street, and that St Mary's Church will be using the space for a variety of activities designed to get people meeting each other, having a pleasant and hopefully warm place to meet with lots of things to do. In addition to the main pub room, which will be known as "The Dove", there is an outbuilding (probably used as a stable in the past) and which will be called "The Yarn Barn" which we will use for craft activities such as spinning, weaving, crochet and knitting. We will be running courses as well as "have a go" sessions and will also be offering other craftspeople the chance to use the Yarn Barn for their own courses.

Between the two buildings there is a courtyard where we hope to have outside activities such as Yard Sales, Coffee Mornings and other fundraising activities. It is a very useful space, and being right on the High Street will make a very good meeting place or a place to rest and perhaps enjoy a coffee and biscuit at times when the Dove or Yarn Barn are open.

There is quite a lot of work to be done to change the buildings from a pub and brewery and being a Grade 2 Listed Building there are a few planning issues to be addressed, but once the necessary permissions have been obtained the work should go forward quite quickly. We are hoping to raise the funds to convert part of the outbuilding to an all-access toilet and also provide a ramp to the back door of the Dove.

We want the Dove and Yarn Barn to be a real benefit to the people of Kington, and we will use the Parish News to let you know each month how the project is progressing. If anyone has any suggestions of community events that they would like to see included, we would love to hear from you.

Having fun creating together

A week after Easter we start our Growing Good course led by Rob and Trish MacCurrach. First session 7.00 pm Wed 15th April in the Parish Hall; seventh and final session Wed 27th May.

Growing Good develops the connection between community and church growth. Together groups will look at scripture, think about our local community, explore their gifts, and find inspiration for putting ideas into action.

All welcome; invite friends. We hope others across the Deanery might also come.

St Thomas a Becket, Huntington

Dr. Philip Ralph Cleland

– Aged 82 years:

Philip died peacefully in Leominster Community Hospital on Friday 16th January. His funeral was held in St. Mary's Church. Lesley, Emily and Tom were overwhelmed by the number of family, friends and acquaintances who attended the service and also the kind messages of sympathy received. Special thanks were given to Chris (Dance), Diane (Holloway), Chris and Gordon (Meakin), whose help and support has been steadfast, particularly over the last 3 months.

Philip was born in 1944, spending the early years of his life at Stowe, where he joined the Golden Valley Pony Club. Philip's father Ralph, who served in RAF Bomber Command during the war, died when Philip was 10 years old. Philip attended Brightlands (Newnham) and later Cheltenham College Preparatory Schools, qualifying as a Doctor at Birmingham Medical School.

Philip returned to Hereford becoming a well-respected dedicated GP in Kington. He purchased School Green, which at the time was a dilapidated cottage with no facilities, but came with 30+ acres of mixed grassland, woodland and streams. Here he could develop his passion for animal and land conservation work. Philip married Lesley in 1976 and, along with raising their two children Emily and Tom, over the years establish a herd of Longhorn cattle, Badger faced sheep and various breeds of poultry – all endangered during the 80/90's. In 1988 Philip replanted a wood in memory of his father Ralph and uncle Bert – "RAF Men of Herefordshire". In 1988 Philip was awarded the Herefordshire Flag Farming Wildlife Award (presented by Sir David Attenborough), awarded to farmers for their conservation work, an award he won again in 1992. One of Philip's later conservation projects was creating a beautiful perennial wildflower meadow.

In addition to his passion for wildlife and conservation work, Philip enjoyed riding with the Radnor and Golden Valley hunts and point-to-point events, played sport with his children, and over a 20-year period supported Tom playing rugby, becoming part of "the team" on nights out. He enjoyed cross-country running, playing cricket and taking part in amateur dramatics. Philip loved entertaining people and together with Robert Jones, dressed up and imitated Vera Williams and May Nolan (old-time residents of Huntington). Other characters were Bert and Gladys (Philip dressing as Gladys). Another sketch was with his elbow leaning out of a Land Rover door and gossiping to Robert's character. Everything was ad-libbed and Robert never knew what Philip would talk about.

Following his retirement as the local GP in 2003, Philip became Medical Officer for Veterans visiting war graves overseas. He thoroughly enjoyed these trips, but it was also his way of saying "thank you" to the RAF Benevolent Fund, who had helped pay his school fees following his father's death. The Not Forgotten Association was a charity close to Philip's heart.

Philip was well respected by the local community for his warmth, kindness, laughter and entertainment over the years. He certainly lived life to the full.

Reader Writes

Dear Parkinson, Having had your uninvited presence in my life confirmed more than 5 or 6 years ago, I feel it is time to give you some form of formal acknowledgement and to agree on the basis of our lives together while the tattered tent of our bodies still technically stands. Well, I'll admit that 6 or so years ago I didn't even know of your existence, so I'll apologise for that and suggest we put our mutual suspicions and disregard behind us and see if we can agree a more helpful and sustainable relationship. Am I right to say that in our country almost 200k people share the dubious privilege of being personally acquainted with you?

Only a short time ago I would think of my "handicap" every 5 minutes; resent, self-pity, bitterness stalked my conscious hours. Every striding woman or man walking up our lane would evoke envy; no longer was it I who stormed hills and could walk 20 miles with joy. A key lesson to share with you Parkinson, is acceptance. I complained to a friend that I felt I had been given a life sentence in solitary confinement. Oh no you haven't she said quite sharply, you hold the key in your own pocket. And she was someone with deep experience of sickness and grief. Self pity is tempting, Parkinson, but I guess that you and I, both, want none of that. So let's call it quits, and we can struggle along together with humour and even joy.

So here is a bit of theology for the two of us to grasp. The good Apostle Paul told the church in Corinth, that he'd prayed 3 times to God to remove a tiresome "thorn in the flesh". Poor man; despite all that heroic work Paul was doing for the spreading church, God still allowed him to be afflicted by this thorn in the flesh; was it temptation, mental, physical? We don't know, but he prayed fervently to be spared its burden. Instead God tells you and me and all believers the wonderful truth "My grace is sufficient for you, for my power is made perfect in weakness." Paul grasped that it was in his own weakness that God could work most powerfully, writing: "for when I am weak, then I am strong."

So Parkinson, what is there to say in conclusion? As the "tattered tent" of our poor bodies gets ever more flapping and unreliable, I shall try not to complain so much. You are a part of my life, Parkinson, and I want us to be positive. I have my own family and loving friends who all care for me and want the two of us to continue to be active and fulfilled. I regularly feel people's kindness and support when I'm down "like a bridge over troubled water"; I want the two of us to be encouraging to others, especially friends who share the same burden. In faith terms it is called "being a blessing"; the Holy Spirit is limitless in power and wisdom and reach, so I also suggest we remember the professionals who care for us so brilliantly. Thank you Parkinson; here's to the future.

4 God by Numbers

The 15th-century Russian iconographer, Andrei Rublev, placed the viewer at the heart of his icon, The Trinity, by including a mirror. The mirror is lost, but Rublev's amazing point of view is not. God, three in one, has invited each of us to their table as the 4th person of the Trinity! God made a special space within their relationship for us. We are included in pure love.

Gaze into the Gospel snapshots of Jesus' life with this in mind and see from their four different perspectives what God is really like: loving, healing, forgiving and including. All four gospels record God's ultimate surrender to human judgment, suffering condemnation and execution. Stripped naked for all to see and stretched to the four points of the cross, God is scrutinised. The true north of this new compass is Love centred in forgiveness. Reaching out to all four corners of the earth, it guides us to love our neighbours near and far just as God does.

Such love, sown as a vulnerable seed, finds four types of soil mentioned by Jesus in the parable of the sower. Rocky soil where God's word becomes bird food, shallow soil with no substance to sustain it, weedy soil where the cares of life choke it and good soil that encourages growth. Believing that God loves and delights in us is good soil! As the spring joyfully rambles into summer, may we enjoy belonging in God's verdant and abundant generosity and, from that place, live lives full of love reflecting on who God really is.

MONTHLY MUSINGS

I wrote this poem, The Three Trees, after a visit to Hereford Cathedral a few years ago, where I was inspired by three lovely tapestries. Denis

*Tree in the garden,
Why do you shiver and tremble?
At the foot of my trunk lies a snake that will subtly dissemble and promise you power if you cheat
God and eat
of my fruit;
So I shiver and tremble.*

*Tree on the hilltop,
Why do you shudder and quake?
In my arms God submits to the serpent's
Embrace for your sake;
and drawing the venom of sin
sloughs the skin
as he dies
So I shudder and quake.*

Wordsearch for April 2026

Even as Jesus ate that last Passover meal with his disciples, he warned them he was about to be betrayed. He took the bread, blessed it, broke it and gave it to them; he took the cup, gave thanks, and gave it to them to drink. The Old Covenant, based on Law, was ticking away its final hours; the New Covenant, based on Christ's body and his blood, was about to be ushered in. Jesus prayed in Gethsemane that this fearful cup might be removed from him, but even more, that God's will might be done. And it was. From Easter onwards we can only approach God through his Son, Jesus Christ, not on our own merit.

Not a Proper Gardener (Part 62)

Spring has Sprung. Alleluia!

Today, as I write on March 5th it's turning into another lovely day, such a treat after the dreary weather we've suffered, seeing so little sunshine. Sarah Keith-Lucas, BBC weather forecaster, reported that: Winter 2025/26 was Among the wettest on record – Sunshine in short supply – Mild for most.

Yesterday we took our coffee out for a nice long walk up and around Hergest, and apart from essentials, like opening the greenhouse, which supplied a few bits of salad towards our lunch outdoors, and of course tending the birds, the garden didn't get much of a look in. Some of the livestock recently has been providing, via an upstairs open bathroom window every morning, a noisy froggy symphony. The birds' water dish has been purloined and filled to the brim with spawn, this receptacle being preferred to the pond. It must be spring! Also it may be that the first hedgehog is waking up, so Emma's put out a few calci worms.

As I'm getting old and wobbly there's no longer very much practical work I can do in the jungle, but Emma isn't afraid to get her hands dirty and has been doing a bit of digging. Giles can be persuaded to help a bit so long as it doesn't mean that he misses seeing the double decker. So I amuse myself by sowing seeds in coir pots and germinating them on windowsills. As well as those broad beans I wrote about last month, planted out and growing away well, I now have three more sets of seeds just starting to germinate, including sweet peas, green peas, cosmos, dwarf French beans and parsnips, so far as I can recall! O, and I must try some carrots. I suppose one advantage of growing them like this is that, set out as plants, they are less likely to be smothered by jungle weeds than if sown directly as seeds!

Emma's been spending her pocket money buying books for us, one of which, from the community shop, is called "No-work garden ideas" which, if you found time and cash for all the work involved, would turn our jungle into a Proper Garden. Heaven Forbid! Then there's, "The Hidden Life of Trees," which magnificently backs up what I've been saying about how trees and other plants communicate, including what they feel and how they protect themselves and each other; written by a German forester, Peter Wohlleben, an international best seller. Amazing! I must find time to read it.

I'm aware that by the time you see this article it will be history, a month out of date and the jungle will be grown on a lot. I may even have got the mower out!

Happy gardening, Denis.

Photography

Where did the word photography come from? It is a Greek word meaning light and drawing/writing invented by Sir John Herschel in 1839.

The first images of people and scenes taken by professional photographers was the Daguerrotype in 1838. The use of silver chloride, one of the chemicals used in developing images came into use in 1841.

Jonathon Draper emigrated to America from Britain in 1832, describing himself as a photo chemist. Some of the first photos he took were of his daughter Margaret Draper. I was surprised at the many famous leaders whose photos were taken, including in 1842 King Louie-Phillipe of France, also American Presidents.

The first coloured method for photographs was developed in 1861, commercially in 1935, rather than an artist colour them for you.

I am sure most families have studio photographs of their ancestors; do you know who they are? It is quite a mystery sometimes, observing the clothing, facial hair, stance, enabling identification, of the period one is looking at and marrying it up with the family tree. The handheld camera was introduced in 1913, by Thomas Sutton.

WW1 soldiers had photos taken before going off to war, all looking very smart. Of course, today when trying to identify the image, the older generation who would know, are no longer around. We do not tend to write on the reverse, who is actually in the photo or the date taken, including the location.

When did cameras become available to the public? In 1888 George Eastman patented Kodak's first roll of film camera, with the flash bulb becoming available by 1927.

The first Brownie box camera was marketed in 1900, and as the years went by, popularity, style, price, and size, improvements were tremendous. Edwin Land launching the Polaroid Camera, became available to the public in 1963. Quite a sensation at the time, instant photos, rather than being developed at Roper's with a week's wait.

Surprisingly, the first digital image was made in 1973, with the digital camera following in 1975. Mobile phones and iPads have superseded cameras, sharing the image digitally with whom you choose. We are in danger of losing a whole generation of history, due to not many people have the images printed off!

Music in New Radnor at The Hub
Imma Setiadi and Nigel Clayton present
“Earth, Air, Wind, and Fire!”

In what is now becoming a fixture in the MiNR calendar, we move to The Hub for the final concert of the season: an exciting recital for four hands at the keyboard of the Hub’s superb Bechstein B grand piano and intriguingly described as ‘a journey across the four elements with 20 fingers on 88 keys, in 90 minutes’.

Both graduates of, and now lecturers at, the RCM, Nigel and Imma believe in bringing classical music to a wider audience in an engaging way. They are both involved in full time teaching across various musical establishments and have performed together on many occasions, including Bridgewater Hall in Manchester, St John’s Smith Square in London, Cowdray Hall in Scotland as well as various music clubs and festivals across the UK. Imma is also the founder of the Musical Rainbow Project, a project to bring hope through music.

Please note: this is an afternoon recital: refreshment will be available.

The Hub, School Lane, New Radnor, Powys, LD8 2SS Pre-booking preferred.

Tickets £15 / £3 from 01544 350746 or 07493 940683 Doors open at 2.30pm for a 3pm start.

We are fortunate in Kington today to have Andrew Compton, Dean Morris and Leslie Garrett taking photos of the area and public events. Previously Harvey Jones used to video them too, but they were not the first in Kington, as a Mr. Stephens was very active in the 1880s, as was Mr Yates. It was not only studio photographs, but street scenes and views. The postcard became popular to send home even if the visit was to the next village.

The museum archive holds of many of these photographs depicting day to day life, industries, progress of the town.

Wednesday April 15th : 2-3 pm at the Burton Hotel a talk on the “Hereford Hoard Armlet, A Symbol of Power” by Emalee Beddoes from Hereford Museum.

Caring for God's Acre

Early Butterflies

April is a lovely month to start searching for butterflies as quite a few of those which are often seen in churchyards, chapel yards or cemeteries are on the wing by now. Some species emerge from overwintering as adults, often looking a bit faded and battered, you'll need to wait until summer to see the newly emerged, resplendent adults. You may find Peacocks and Red Admirals, feeding on flowers prior to egg-laying. Both of these spectacular butterflies lay eggs on nettles.

Look for the Comma, with its distinctive wing shape, its upper wings coloured orange with black markings whilst its underwings, visible when closed, are well camouflaged to disappear amongst dead leaves. Comma caterpillars also feed on nettles. Another butterfly that overwinters is the Brimstone, the male showing a characteristic yellow colour, the female more of a pale greenish yellow. It is thought the name butterfly comes from this species – a butter-coloured fly!

Other butterflies start emerging from pupation in April. These will look smart compared to those that have over-wintered, with bright colours and their wings unbattered at least at first. Have a look for the Holly Blue, known as the churchyard butterfly. This delicate blue butterfly will be seen in tree canopies, so you'll need to look up! Four species from the same family, the Whites and Yellows can be seen, green-veined white, large white, small white and orange tip. Both small and large whites are nicknamed 'cabbage whites' by gardeners as their caterpillars can devour both brassicas and nasturtiums. The green-veined white is less of a villain for gardeners, it's caterpillars, like that of the Orange Tip, feed on a variety of wild plants including cuckoo-flower, hedge mustard and garlic mustard.

Burial grounds are usually a mix of shady woodland areas and sunny grassland, and the butterflies found reflect both habitats and in particular, the scrubby edges between them containing coarse grasses, shrubs, nettles and brambles. Look for Speckled Wood emerging in April, its caterpillars feed on coarse grasses.

If you'd like to encourage butterflies then leave some nettles in full sun, whilst you may not wish to encourage nettles is there a place where they already occur? When planting trees, shrubs or flowers please use native species and include buckthorn or alder buckthorn, both food plants of the Brimstone. Perhaps most importantly, allow some areas to be a little bit scruffy particularly over winter. Leave some rough vegetation and dead stems as well as piles of autumn leaves, until all creatures that have been sheltering, hibernating and pupating have emerged into the spring sunshine.

As always, we'd love to hear about any butterflies you see.

All the best,

Harriet Carty

KINGTON TOWN COUNCIL UPDATE

Farewell to Kington's Town Council's Clerk, Liz Kelso

Kington Town Council's Clerk, Liz Kelso, is moving on to new and exciting adventures after nine years in post and over 25 years in local government. During her time at KTC, Liz has managed and led the administration of two full council elections, 5 different Mayors, a global pandemic, a cost-of-living crisis, the death of the sovereign, and the crowning of a King! Liz has played a vital role in managing the town's response to all of these stand-out events and has worked tirelessly delivering many positive impacts for Kington on behalf of the Town Council. She has set up over 800 formal council and/or committee meetings and consultations – writing the agendas, supporting papers and minutes, including remote meetings during the pandemic; overseen 11 internal audit processes and 9 external audits - all without adverse comment; applied for and managed external/grant funded projects totalling nearly £1m; drafted the response of the council to over 250 planning applications within the town; and acted as administrator for the charity which manages the Recreation Ground and more recently Crooked Well public open space.

Liz has been a super-achiever for Kington. She managed all this whilst working part time (with just one part time assistant) and having had 2 hip replacement operations.

Regretfully, Liz was not able to get to the bottom of the ongoing pothole, dog poo and inconsiderate parking sagas we have here, but let's not distract from her successes - it is hard to imagine the workings of Kington Town Council without Liz's steady presence and constant insurance that procedures, records and community projects were well-run and did not fall foul of rules and legislation. Her dedication and expertise have set a high standard, and her legacy will be felt for years to come. (Liz's successor has big boots to fill – good luck with that!)

Dearest Liz – We thank you for almost a decade of dedicated service to Kington's community and citizens. Your expertise and calm demeanour have been invaluable, and we will miss your presence at council activities immensely. Enjoy spending more time with your granddaughters and getting stuck into new and inspiring endeavours. Kington Town Council and our community send you much appreciation, thanks, and a fond farewell.

Brilley Flicks in the Sticks

Thursday 2nd April at 7.30: The Choral (12A), £5

1916. As war rages on the Western Front, the Choral Society in Ramsden, Yorkshire has lost most of its men to the army. Their ambitious committee decides on a recruitment drive. They must also engage a new chorus master, and their best bet seems to be Dr Henry Guthrie (Ralph Fiennes) – driven, uncompromising, and recently returned from a career in Germany. As conscription papers start to arrive, the whole community discovers that the best response to the chaos that is laying waste to their lives is to make music together.

Hergest Croft Gardens

appoints Miranda Whitten-Walker as Artist in Residence for 2026

Internationally renowned Herefordshire gardens continue long-running residency programme celebrating art, landscape and community

Hergest Croft Gardens, the internationally renowned arboretum and gardens near Kington, has announced the appointment of Miranda Whitten-Walker as its Artist in Residence for the 2026 season.

A Kington-based contemporary artist and printmaker, Miranda Whitten-Walker will undertake a twelve-month residency from March 2026, working on site throughout the seasons and drawing inspiration from Hergest Croft's celebrated landscape, champion trees and rare plant collections.

Specialising in nature and landscapes, Whitten-Walker is particularly known for her complex, multi-layered linocut prints, which explore British hill ranges from unusual perspectives. Her work typically begins as plein-air sketches made outdoors, before being developed in the studio into prints with a distinctive painterly quality, blending abstract and realistic elements. Strongly influenced by the textures and erosive forces shaping the rural environment, her practice reflects a deep engagement with landscape and place.

An emerging figure in the UK art scene, Whitten-Walker was the 2025 recipient of the h.Art Emerging Artist Bursary Award, having shifted to full-time art in 2024 from a career as a biologist. She is a self-taught artist, a Fellow of the RSA and a member of Aberystwyth Printmakers. Her work has been exhibited widely across the Welsh Borders and beyond, including in Ironbridge and at Liverpool's Bluecoat, and has featured in publications by the BBC and Oxford University Press.

During her residency at Hergest Croft Gardens, visitors will be able to see the artist working on site, engage with her creative process, and take part in workshops, talks and exhibitions, offering a rare insight into how art responds to landscape across the changing seasons. The residency follows that of artist Chris Williams and forms part of Hergest Croft's ongoing Artist in Residence programme.

Austyn Hallworth, Head of Marketing and PR at Hergest Croft Gardens, said: "Miranda's work speaks beautifully to the spirit of Hergest Croft – it is rooted in landscape, shaped by observation and enriched by time spent outdoors. Her residency will offer visitors a deeper, more reflective way of experiencing the gardens, while strengthening our commitment to creativity, heritage and community."

Owned by five generations of the Banks family, Hergest Croft Gardens spans 70 acres and is home to 130 champion trees and more than 5,000 rare and unusual trees, plants and shrubs, making it the second largest privately owned arboretum in the UK. The gardens attract visitors from across the region and beyond, and the Artist in Residence programme continues to build meaningful connections between horticulture, art and the local community.

The Green Man of March

The Midwinter King sits high on his throne.
His wife the Frost Lady is shaking a spell,
For the frost of hers is dying and starts to tell her ‘farewell.’

The King commands his generals, his voice like a bell,
‘Do not leave me now! Do not whisper farewell!
Stand firm in the blizzard, stay cold in the sun,
Our winter empire has only just begun!’

Then General Gale, with a whistle and boom,
Told the King and the Queen of their impending doom:
‘My wind is not strong and my forces are low,
The Green Man is coming with a powerful glow.’

Next, Colonel Cold added his crackle and snap,
‘My armour is melting! I’m caught in a trap!
My boots fall to water on emerald-bright grass,
I cannot charge forward; I cannot even pass!’

The Green Man spoke with a voice deep and wide,
Like the roll of the thunder or the pull of the tide.
‘Lay down your daggers of icicle-sheath,
For the flowers are waking in gardens beneath!

My vines are the chains that shall capture your feet,
My sunlight is the fire that forces retreat.
Your kingdom was silver, but mine shall be gold,
A story of blossoms that’s yet to be told!’

The King looked in horror at the life-giving throng,
As the Green Man shouted ‘My power is too strong!’
The silver was conquered by the sprout and the leaf,
As the long winter ended in a moment of grief.

The ice turned to water, the grey turned to blue,
As the world started breathing and waking anew.
Then all people shouted in joy at the sight:
‘The winter has ended! We welcome the light!’

Border Care Limited

PROVIDING DAILY HOME CARE & LIVING OPTIONS

Flexible Care that adapts to your needs

01544 231500

Border Care Ltd. is a local home care agency, with office premises at The Old Police Station in Kington.

The senior staff at Border Care have lived in the Kington area for over forty years, and have wide ranging experience in the social care and nursing sectors.

We would be pleased to visit you to discuss all aspects of support that you may need to enable you to stay in your own home.

We cover Kington and the surrounding villages.

Alternatively, please visit our office, which has disabled access; we would advise you to phone first, to ensure one of us is available to meet with you.

For an initial informal and confidential chat, please telephone Lorna or Lindsay, or email us at bordercareltd@gmail.com
